

WRITING EXPERT GIVES SURPRISE

Letter Said to Have Been Written By Girl Is Declared Forgery

MINNEOLA, N. Y., Oct. 3.—A handwriting expert, called by counsel for William M. Cressy of Fort Thomas, Ky., now on trial for the murder of his former sweetheart, Miss Edith Layoy, Monday testified that one of the numerous letters alleged to have been written by the girl was a forgery.

"Can love be forced?" the letter asked. "Would you want a wife who would not love you?"

Loren C. Horton of New York, the handwriting expert explained in detail the dissimilarities between the writing in this letter and that in other letters known to have been written by Miss Layoy. He was not cross-examined by District Attorney Weeks.

Cressy contends that Miss Layoy shot herself as he lay by her side on a couch in her front porch home, because he had put off his marriage to her. The prosecution charges that it was Miss Layoy who became disenchanted and ended the romance, drawing a letter from Cressy in which he wrote, "I have no more heart in my body. By Sunday I shall be under six feet of earth in Kentucky."

When asked as to his reason for this despondent note, Cressy said: "I was on a spree the night before and when I wrote that letter I was recovering from the effect of it."

The case will go to the jury late today.

with the greatest suspicion. The Daily Press says M. Venizelos has advised the revolutionary government in Athens to agree in principle to the evacuation of eastern Thrace, but to tell the allies that Greece will not evacuate the territory until the powers have decided she shall do so as part of the final peace plans.

The newspaper says the effect of this plan, if adopted, would be that the Greek army would remain in Thrace for many weeks longer, and that the conditions arising from this would bring war between the British and the Greeks.

The report that the United States administration is being pressed to intervene in the Near Eastern situation is given conspicuous publicity and attracts general attention. However, none of the papers comment editorially upon it.

MILITARY DISCUSSION
CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—Only military matters will be taken up at the conference of allied and Turkish national commanders at Mudania today, the political aspects of the situation being disposed of at a later meeting, according to Henri Franklin-Bouillon, whose recent trip to Smyrna where he conferred with Mustafa Kemal Pasha was responsible for the summoning of today's conference.

The two most important questions to be discussed today, he said, were the demarcation of a new neutral zone on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles and at Smyrna, and the evacuation of Thrace. He was confident that an agreement would be reached.

GRAVE ROBBERY WARRANTS OUT

Arson Also Charged in Alleged Insurance
Fraud Plot

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—Fred Mueller, prosecuting attorney of St. Louis county, late Monday issued warrants charging grave robbery and arson against Harry R. Brenn and his wife, in connection with the discovery that a body found in Brenn's garage, at Oakville, Mo., which was destroyed by fire last Tuesday, was that of a young woman and not Brenn, as it was presumed originally.

The warrants were issued on the strength of information sworn to by Dr. Rella Bracy, coroner of St. Louis county, who announced that in his opinion Mrs. Brenn was withholding information about the crimes with which she and her husband are charged.

LIVED IN GERMANY.
Mrs. Brenn was taken into custody last Wednesday by detectives, who declared that the body, found in the garage ruins, was that of Miss Celeste Schneider, which was stolen last Monday from its grave in Mount Hope cemetery.

Police say that in their investigation it appears that Brenn and his wife intended going to Germany. Mrs. Brenn's former home, after collecting $6,000 life insurance, which Brenn carried.

HUSBAND MISSING.
No trace has been found of Brenn, who left home last Monday before the fire. The body of the young woman was found lying on an automobile standing in the fire debris.

Mrs. Brenn steadfastly has maintained that she knows nothing of the alleged plot, which the police accuse her husband of engineering. Repeated questioning by detectives and deputy sheriffs has failed to change her account of the garage fire and the disappearance of her husband, who, she said, is dead, having perished in the fire.

COLLEGE DISCLAIMS EXPULSION DAMAGE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 3.—A demurrer to the suit of Miss Margery Barker, of Michigan City, Ind., against Bryn Mawr college, for $50,000 damages for an alleged unjust expulsion was filed in the United States district court today by the trustees of the college.

In the demurrer it is contended that Miss Barker has shown no grounds to sustain her suit in that her averments do not place upon any one connected with the institution responsibility for the circulation of reports that she was suspected of petty thefts from the rooms of fellow students.

Miss Barker, in her statement of claim, asserted that when she was summoned to the office of the dean, questions asked her in the presence of a number of students and other persons implied that she was suspected of the thefts. She also claimed that the action of the college in expelling her had led her friends and fellow students to believe she had committed thefts and therefore, "seriously damaged," her character and reputation.

DRUG FRONT USED BY BOOTLEGGERS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 3.—The real business of many so-called "wholesale drug houses" which have sprung into existence in the last three years, is the sale of liquor, William Ochse, of San Antonio, Texas, told the National Wholesale Druggists' association in convention here. His charges were echoed by a number of other speakers.

Ludwig Schiff, of Los Angeles, chairman of the committee on salesmen, and selling methods, recommended in his report the adoption of what is virtually a profit-sharing system in handling salesmen's accounts by which, after deducting a percentage for invested capital return, a portion of the excess profits would be returned as a bonus.

GOLDEN DAYS VISIONS SEEN

Ox-Drawn Covered Wagons
Parade Along Chicago
Boulevard

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Vision of the golden days of 49 and the ox-drawn, covered wagon that used to stir up the dust when Michigan boulevard was a trail to Fort Dearborn returned Monday and momentarily blotted out the city's towering skyline while a strange cavalcade made its way along the lake front.

Symbolic of the evolution wrought by the modern miracle of transportation, a wagon, drawn by a team of oxen, its way down one of the world's busiest automobile thoroughfares, its white top billowing in the breeze, kettles and pans clattering from a tall man whose eyes roamed incessantly as though in search for the wind-swept beach, fringed by cottonwoods, which had been replaced by the roaring boulevard.

OVERLAND COACH SEEN
While the spectators paused and rubbed their eyes in disbelief at the sight of "Uncle Ezra" Meeker, pioneer trail blazer of 70 years ago, and his old prairie schooner, with Sam Swan, driver, himself one of the old time "skinner" men, a head, a horn, other strange reminders of bygone days drew into sight.

There was Chief Elk Elk, descendant of Chief Bennett of the Modocans, walking beside a smiling pony, awaiting the coming outfit on trailing sticks—the Indians' travels—on which was seated his squaw. Then came Ben Holliday No. 14, overland stage coach of the early sixties, and bearing the butt marks of a dozen encounters with road agents and Indians, driven by E. T. Laidlaw, 81, who has piloted many a similar coach in the days of the old west. Behind the stage coach came William Meehan, of Indianapolis, a veteran of the high bicycle days with his carefully preserved 37-inch "witch."

OPENS CONVENTION.
"Golden Days? Who said it?" shouted a flaming banner on the coach to the crowds, as the queer vehicles crept along beside the modern marvels of transportation—the street cars, elevated trains and comfortable automobiles.

A horse car of 1870 brought vivid remembrances to numbers of age-long onlookers, who recalled the days when they had ridden in such conveyances in the belief that they were the last word in transportation.

"Well, I guess things today ain't so bad after all," remarked one spectator.

The parade marked the opening of the American Electric Railway association's convention, the children's gavel dropping as the bouncing horse car was driven into the hall where the meetings will be held.

BANKERS HEAR LAMONT TALK

porarily leaped that hurdle and created a feeling of relief," said Mr. Lamont.

Of the tariff he said: "We shall be fortunate indeed, if we do not find that in practice it protects a lot of industries that do not require protection, and cuts off from our farmers and manufacturers a lot of foreign markets that are ready to buy our commodities."

MOTIF IS QUOTED.
"If there is any one motto which should be heartily by heart it is the oft-repeated one of the British merchants, who over a century ago, declared 'He who will not buy, neither shall he sell.'"

Even with "the sick man of Europe," the Turk, "suddenly alive and kicking the Greeks all around the lot, with Russia, Germany and Austria, what they are, and with Ireland in a ferment, it is dangerous," declared Mr. Lamont, "to say that Europe has 'gone all to pot.' Inevitable forces are saving Europe, he said, adding, "politically Europe may be in the doldrums or worse; but economically, for one, believe she is on the mend."

REPARATIONS SECONDARY.
"Reparations," said Mr. Lamont, "has now reached a stage in the public opinion of the United States and Europe, that it is dangerous to inter-ally indebtedness because," he declared, "it is generally recognized that Germany cannot or will not ever pay anything like the reparations total fixed in the Versailles treaty."

"Now let us, as practical men, determine what, if any of these debts (allied debts to America) are in any event uncollectible and so should be written off, in order to save ourselves," he suggested to the bankers.

"Let us decide what others of these debts are good in part, but must be given ample time to pay, emphatically, let us figure whether the payment of these debts—which inevitably must mean a great increase in our import and a heavy decline in our export trade—will prove an asset or a liability for American business men."

DANGER TO AMERICA.
"Finally," he concluded, "do not forget, as the nations of Europe forget dangers, America too is facing a crisis, though of a different order. We have gained great powers. With the power goes responsibility. Have we discharged it? For the period of the world war, my answer is, yes, a thousand fold yes. For the period since the armistice, can any one of us search his heart and answer yes? We have, it is true, offered criticism to the nations of Europe. We have shouted advice across to them. But through your side eruptions, plagues, petty enlargements. Now we have, it would seem, come to the parting of ways."

"Should we meet the responsibility that comes with our power—or, shall we fall? Shall you and I give our minds, and our sympathy to these problems or shall we stand aside and add to our national stock of gold. Shall we urge upon our national government active cooperation in the councils of the mother country and of the old world? Or shall we keep silent?"

MISS MILLS AGAIN QUIZZED

Choir Singer's Daughter
Taken From Class in High School

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 3.—Charlotte Mills, 16-years-old, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, choir leader, whose body was found beside that of the Rev. Edward W. Hall in a field on September 16, was again brought into the investigation of the double murder Monday.

The girl's first active participation in the case occurred last week when she appeared to Governor Edwards for aid, with the result that the governor sent detectives of the state police to co-operate with the local authorities. Monday Miss Mills was taken by a detective from her class in high school to the office of Prosecutor Beekman where she remained for two hours.

NO FRIENDS CALL.
Commenting upon her visit to the prosecutor, she said: "They wanted to know what right I had to go to Governor Edwards and ask him to help me get results. I told them that I had every right and I believed they were not doing anything to find the person or persons who killed my mother. I told them this was reason enough."

From the questions they asked I am convinced they are not getting anywhere. I am heartily sick and tired of answering a lot of questions, when they might better employ their time in finding the murderer. If no one else is interested, I am.

The girl also said that up to date no member of the church congregation has called on her to express sympathy with her in the loss of her mother.

INQUIRY WIDENS.
While Miss Mills was voicing these criticisms the work of investigation was progressing here as well as in New York and Philadelphia.

Charles Collins, a county detective, Monday went to Philadelphia where he said he learned from a Philadelphia detective that Mrs. Hall on September 20 took some garments to be cleaned by a firm in that city. Records of the cleaning establishment, he said, did not show the exact nature of the work done on the clothing.

MAID QUESTIONED.
In addition to examining Miss Mills, Prosecutor Beekman questioned Louise Geis, maid in the Hall home, Sidney Carpenter, a first cousin of Mrs. Hall, appeared at the court-house here but was told he had been called by mistake. At the time it was said a dress containing letters had disappeared from a bureau in Hall home and that the prosecutor was trying to learn what had become of it.

MAY ABANDON PLAN FOR LINCOLN MOVIE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 3.—Objection of Petersburg film scene in the partially restored village of Old Salem, Lincoln's old home, may cause cancellation of plans for a Lincoln movie, it was announced here.

The objections are based on the ground that Petersburg residents subscribed money for restoring the village with the understanding that a picture dealing only with the restoration of Lincoln and Ann Rutledge would be produced. They contend this picture would lay more stress on Old Salem and Petersburg than the one proposed.

Unless it is possible to make the picture of Lincoln's life on the scenes actually associated with the emancipator, the producers announce they will abandon the project.

EXPERT TRIES TO SPREAD OUT CITIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Raymond Unwin, European expert on housing and town planning, who has been called to New York by the Russell Sage foundation, to try to relieve housing congestion, began work today by studying how New York industries might be attracted to the suburbs. This, he declared, was the most important step in any attempt to distribute the various phases of the city's life.

Mr. Unwin, who laid out the first English garden cities and the "overnight towns" needed for munition workers, said that successful work in Frankfurt, London and other European cities, had shown him that expansion of the city was the only logical method of relieving congestion.

TRAMPS TAKE ALL EXCEPT HIS SHIRT

SEWICKLY, Pa., Oct. 3.—Commuters on their way to the railroad station Monday noticed a young man in a clump of bushes seemingly trying to attract their attention.

"Come out," shouted a commuter. "I can't; I've got only a shirt on," was the reply.

After an automobile blanket had been wrapped around him they went to the police station and made this statement:

"I am Duncan Morris, 21 years old. My father is a merchant at El Paso, Texas."

"I left home to tour the country in automobiles and 'side door' Pullmans. All went well until Sunday night when I entered a box car at New Brighton, Pa."

"I didn't know that two tramps were in possession of the car. I do know that they beat me up, took all my clothes except this shirt and dumped me off at Sewickly."

El Paso has been notified.

MORE AND BETTER
SUGAR, FILIPINO AIM

MANILA, Oct. 3.—(By The Associated Press).—Sugar growers and manufacturers from all parts of the Philippines assembled here today to discuss plans for increasing the sugar cane yield for bettering the quality of sugar produced and for organizing an association of men in the industry.

Vice Governor Gilmore, addressing the conference, said that the preferential tariff favoring the Philippines sugar means a very substantial advantage by increasing largely the market in the United States.

He added: "Important, however, as the preferential tariff is, it alone is insufficient for the full development of the sugar industry. Competition requires that the industry develop and use methods of the highest efficiency if it is to hold its own. There should be produced here not only more sugar, but better sugar, and the purpose of this conference is to study means of doing so."

'TERROR CAR' FIRES AT WORKERS' HOMES

BURLINGTON, Iowa, Oct. 3.—Again Monday night the "terror car" sped through the streets of Burlington, its occupants discharging revolvers at the homes of men who are working at the West Burlington shops of the Burlington railroad. More than a dozen shots were fired and two homes were shelled with bullets. No one was injured and there have been no arrests.
